

Ken Lewandowski

Ken Lewandowski is an artist based in Quincy, MA. He has always been devoted to and in awe of the beauty and possibilities of art and design. As a youngster, fine art was his passion. In college, he studied product design at the College for Creative Studies and then architecture at the University of Michigan always intrigued by the way art can influence form and function. Beginning in 2024, after working as an architect, and only dabbling in the fine arts for over 40 years, he now focuses on contemporary fine art. He is inspired by three dimensional expressions and uses a mix of media, materials, and textures in his work. Each piece of art starts with an idea, material, or technique, and is followed by an exploration and development process that culminates in the execution of the final composition. As such, his current work shows a wide range of styles and techniques including acrylic paint on canvas, plexiglas and paper, cold wax and oil paint on paper and canvas, and watercolor and soft pastels on paper. In addition to his fine art pieces, he designs and produces sophisticated greeting cards and "watercolor touched" photographs using techniques he has developed over the years.
